

Living well with Dementia

International renowned speaker, Michael Verde returns in August

Described as "inspiring, enlightening, and life changing" join us for one of Michael Verde's three FREE talks in August.

Creating authentic, respectful and loving relationships is the anti-dote to feelings of loneliness and isolation

Living Life Fully - 'Being with' Care (two dates)

Verde helps us understand how to step outside the "normal" ways to emotionally connect with someone, to better connect with a loved one living with Dementia.

The talk will explore ways to overcome feelings of self-consciousness, discomfort and fear to be fully present and connected to someone living with Dementia.

"With the gift of our loving attention, people with dementia can feel they belong and matter again."
