In 2018, after surviving cancer, my wife Cath, our kids and I moved from Wollongong to Willagee to build a new life closer to family. The “Gee” supported us through my second diagnosis in 2019, inspiring me to give back. I led the Gee Dads at Caralee Community School for six years, growing it into a strong fatherhood network, received the Caralee Community Recognition Award in 2024, and was shortlisted for National Community Father of the Year in 2023. I’m an actor, producer, and educator with 35 years’ experience, currently teaching at WAAPA, Curtin and Caralee. I ran in the 2025 Palmyra–Melville–Willagee election, earning 21.5% of the vote, and have continued representing residents’ voices in council meetings and local media. Last year I established GEE-TREES and launched the SAVE MELVILLE'S CANOPY policy to protect our trees and strengthen community stewardship. I’m running as a neighbour committed to care, inclusion and sustainability so we leave Melville better than we found it.
